CHAPERON

"WHAT'S got you star-gazing, dream girl," queried Ted Dawson, as he fell in beside Candy O'Connor. Candy was just leaving the high school on her way home at the end of the afternoon session. She had been moving along in her own little world and the sudden presence of her almost-steady boyfriend, threw her out of her reverie. "Oh, hello, Ted," she sighed, "I was just thinking about chaperons."

"A dismal pastime, if I've ever heard of one," laughed Ted, "Oh, I get it, you're mulling over the Junior Prom tomorrow night. But why the chaperon angle? I should think it would be the new dress, a hot samba, and me, your favorite fella!"

"You're pretty sure of yourself," Candy countered playfully. "Actually, I was thinking of our terrific new economics teacher, Mr. Kramer. He's going to chaperon the prom, you know." "So?" replied Ted, taking the bait, "It won't be the first time we've had a goon guy overseeing activities. I'm pretty fed on Kid Kramer myself. Just because he made a name for himself in college, he thinks he's a big shot here as a teacher."

Candy tossed her head, "It isn't every day we can have a star athlete on our faculty, and such an absolutely handsome one, too."

And it was true. Mitchell "Kid" Kramer had taken Hartwick High School by storm when he accepted a teaching position. His presence on the campus had turned the head of every girl student. Even the women teachers were suddenly in a hurry of new hair styles and a noticeable change of manner. And Cornelia Clyde, Candy's would-be rival in all departments, had boasted that she intended to make such an impression on Mr. Kramer that he'd be begging her for a date the minute she graduated from Hartwick High School. The only thing that stopped her from dating him before graduation, she said, was the strict school rule that teachers and students would not have dates.

Ted Dawson was well aware of Candy's interest and along with the other boys in school, was launched on a campaign to make Mitchell Kramer look as silly as possible in the eyes of all the girls. Until now, they had had little success; however, because the handsome economics teacher maintained strict discipline in his classroom and as assistant coach of the school football team, he talked nothing but good sound football and the boys had yet to find a weak spot.

The morning of the prom, Ted shuddered to a stop in his jalopy just as Candy came down the walk on her way to school. "Hop in, sugar foot," he chirped, "All set for the big drag tonight?"

"Ted, don't you think it's simply a common courtesy to ask the chaperon to dance? Especially when that chaperon's been sitting all evening just watching all of us have a wonderfully gay time?"

Ted replied, red in the face, "For shux sakes, Candy, are you still dazing over Kramer? Personally, I think the guy's a pain."

"I really don't care what you think," said Candy snootily. "I'm serving notice right now that I'm going to dance with Mr. Kramer. Cornelia Clyde's bragging that she'll have the first and last dance with him and I'm not going to let her get ahead of me."

"Well, of all the—!" started Ted, as he jammed to a stop in front of the school, "Okay, queen bee, we're here! And I hope you can save a few dances for me tonight, since I'm gonna be your escort. You and that Cornelia Clyde, phooey!"

That afternoon, Ted was leaving the athletic field after football scrimmage. As usual, the old jalop was sputtering and coughing to a start, but even so, it was doing a lot better than the cream colored convertible that Mitchell Kramer was trying to start. Finally he gave up and hailed Ted, just as that young man was gleefully picturing the handsome instructor stuck with his car for the next twenty-four hours. Ted grudgingly responded with an offer to drive Mr. Kramer to town and they jolted off a few moments later.

Ted called for Candy on the button that night, and whistled appreciatively as she swept down the stairs in a cloud of pink tulle. "Wowie! You'll knock 'em all dead, princess, chaperons included." "I'm glad you're not being nasty about Mr. Kramer, Ted," cooed Candy. "After all, we girls are just interested in seeing that he isn't bored." "Sure thing," replied Ted confidently, "but you've got your work cut out for you." And he carefully placed her wrap over her shoulders.

Candy looked at Ted speculatively as they sped along to the dance. "I'm not sure I like your attitude after all, Ted Dawson. You act pretty chipper about the whole thing." "Tek, Candy, such perception," chided Ted. Just then, Cornelia Clyde brushed by Candy, treading on the hem of her gown. "Oops, Candy," she drawled. "Sorry, but I'm in a hurry for that first dance you know." Candy gulped a fast reply, "Think nothing of it, Cornie, I just don't want to get killed in the rush."

"I simply loathe that girl," muttered Candy. "She's going to monopolize Mr. Kramer and none of us will have a chance at him." Ted, laughing, led her up the steps. "Ordinarily I'd blow up on a comment like that, angel face, but my crystal ball tells me all you femmes are going to have a change of heart."

"Oh, nonsense," replied Candy haughtily, as they entered the gayly decorated gym. "you don't know what you're talking about." "Well then let's just trot over so we can be on hand when Cornelia nabs Kid Kramer for that first dance," laughed Ted.

Mr. Kramer was looking anxiously towards the side door when Ted and Candy moved in and quickly started to dance nearby. Cornelia swooped in, smiling broadly. Mr. Kramer seemed to look right past her. By this time, Candy had practically stopped dancing and Ted was hard put to conceal his chuckles. "Oh, do be quiet, Ted, I want to hear what Cornelia says," whispered Candy. "Yeah, and I want to hear Mr. Kramer's reply," he returned.

"Oh, Mr. Kramer," cooed Cornelia, oozing confidence, "will you dance this first dance with your brightest pupil?" Mitchell Kramer looked startled. "Why, thank you, Cornelia. But as a matter of fact you didn't do too well on that exam today. And I'm afraid I'll have to decline your kind invitation, I always dance the first dance with my wife. Oh, here she comes now." All eyes turned in the direction Kid Kramer was looking, to see a tall, stately blonde come smilingly toward him. Cornelia just stood still, wide-eyed and stunned. An appreciative murmur spread through the gym and Candy recovered quickly to burst into laughter as she danced away with a smug looking Ted. "Well, wise one," she quipped, "you can put away that crystal ball now, I'm not going to worry about chaperons anymore."

Here's What Only 15 Minutes a Day Can Do For You

I DON'T care how old or young you are, or how ashamed of your present physical condition you may be. If you can simply raise your arm and flex it I can add SOLID MUSCLE to your biceps—yes, on each arm—in double-quick time! Only 15 minutes a day—right in your own home—is all the time I ask of you! And there's no cost if I fail.

I can broaden your shoulders, strengthen your back, develop your whole muscular system INSIDE and OUTSIDE! I can add inches to your chest, give you a vise-like grip, make those legs of yours lithe and powerful. I can shoot new strength into your old backbone, exercise those inner organs, help you cram your body so full of pep, vigor and red-blooded vitality that you won't feel there's even "standing room" left for weakness and that lazy feeling! Before I get through with you I'll have your whole frame "measured" to a nice, new beautiful suit of muscle!

What's My Secret?

"Dynamic Tension!" That's the ticket! The identical natural method that I myself developed to change my body from the scrawny, skinny-chested weakling I was at 17 to my present super-man physique! Thousands of other fellows are becoming marvelous physical specimens—my way. I give you no gadgets or contraptions to fool with. When you have learned to develop your strength through "Dynamic Tension" you can laugh at artificial muscle makers. You simply utilize the DORMANT muscle-power in your own God-given body—watch it increase and multiply double-quick into real solid LIVE MUSCLE! And you'll be using the method which many great athletes use for keeping in condition—prize fighters, wrestlers, baseball and football players, etc.

My method—"Dynamic Tension"—will turn the trick for you. No theory—every exercise is practical. And, man, so easy! Spend only 15 minutes a day in your own home. From the very start you'll be using my method of "Dynamic Tension" almost unconsciously every minute of the day—walking, bending over, etc.—to BUILD MUSCLE and VITALITY.
